BATTLE OUTCOME OF LOCKOUT OF UNIONS

Loyalty League Orders the Town Freed of "Undesirables," Fight Starts When Edict Is Scorned—One Law and Order Man Hurt.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 22.—Three alleged agitators were killed and a fourth perhaps mortally wounded this afternoon in a rifle and pistol battle with members of the Law and Order League at Bogalusa, according to reports received here tonight.

Bulletin.

Although bullets were showered at them for several minutes, the Law and Order men suffered only one casualty.

Jules LeBlanc, an ex-soldier, who had volunteered for extra police duty, got a bullet through his right arm.

Those killed were: Lum E. Williams, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Bogalusa; Walter Bouchillon and Thomas Caines, alleged union lieutenants. S. J. O'Rourke, who is also alleged to have been active as an agitator, was shot three times and probably will die.

The shooting followed an alleged attempt by Williams and his lieutenants to prevent the arrest of Sol Dakus, a negro, who had been trying to organize the colored labor of Bogalusa and for whom a warrant had been issued.

SON FREED FROM JAIL; VISITS DYING FATHER

Judge Robert Hardison of the police court tempered justice with mercy yesterday when he ordered the release of Charles Keeseker from the workhouse at Oceanquan. Friends of the prisoner informed the judge that Keeseker's father was seriously ill with tuberculosis, and there was practically no hope of his recovery and he had expressed a wish to have his son with him in his last days.

The young man was serving a 90-days sentence for carrying concealed weapons and had already spent 40 days of the time in prison. Judge Hardison ordered that Keeseker be brought back from Oceanquan and placed on probation, the remaining 50 days being remitted.

HE DECLARES FATHER SPIRITED AWAY CHILD

Boy, Still Missing, Has Been Gone Since Nov. 17; Parents Are Separated; Mother Former Washington Woman.

Harry M. Freidley, Jr., 1214 Massachusetts avenue northwest, and an employee of the Internal Revenue Bureau, was arrested at his place of employment yesterday in connection with the kidnapping of 7-year-old Arthur Byrne from New Haven, Conn., November 17.

The child was living with his mother, Mrs. Charles C. Byrne, formerly of Washington, but now separated from her husband, and residing in New Haven.

Implicates Boy's Father.

Freidley and the child's father, Charles C. Byrne, of this city, were in New Haven for a football game. They are said to have taken the child away with them.

Freidley, the detectives say, told the authorities here that Byrne was responsible for removing the boy. Freidley is Byrne's brother-in-law.

The child had not been recovered at a late hour last night. Freidley refuses to discuss the case.

Freidley was released at the first precinct police station on $2,000 bonds. He will be given a hearing before Chief Justice McCoy, of the District Supreme Court, Tuesday morning.

SIX-YEAR TERM GIVEN SLAYER

Mercy Shown in Sentencing For Manslaughter—Aid In Crime to Be Indicted.

What is believed to be a record minimum sentence for manslaughter was established in Justice Stafford's Court, Criminal Division No. 2, yesterday morning when he sent Nathan H. Jenifer, alias Buck Jenifer, to the penitentiary for six years.

Justice Stafford told the court that he had investigated Jenifer's case thoroughly and there were extenuating circumstances which warranted mercy. The maximum sentence for manslaughter is fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Jenifer was convicted of shooting and killing Robert Redman on June 10. Justice Stafford pointed out that another man had aided Jenifer in the killing and that while the Grand Jury originally ignored charges against him, they now are ready to indict him in cannot rely on pledges given it by the government? If assurances given are but idle words," he shot at his audience.

"How many laboring men would be killed by the government?" he asked.

DANSEY DEATH WORK OF MORON POLICE BELIEF

Parallel in Attack on 7-Year-Old Girl Leads to Suspicion of Convict.

MOTHER BLAMES SELF

Guards Watch Swamp to Prevent Destruction of Evidence of Killing.

Hammon, N. J., Nov. 2.—State and county authorities were bending every effort tonight to determine how little Billy Dansey, the "perfect baby" was slain.

Following up the theory that the two-and-a-half-year-old boy, who disappeared October 8 and whose skeleton was found in a swamp three miles south of his home late yesterday, was the victim of a pervers, officials planned to question a former soldier who is now serving ten years in Trenton penitentiary for attacking a seven-year-old girl.

Was Tried Secretly.

The crime was committed near Hammon three weeks ago. The man was tried secretly to prevent possible lynching.

The fact that only the boy's skeleton remained prevented physicians from determining how he met his death. The belief he was murdered by a pervers, however, was strengthened by the fact his clothes were strewn about the thicket in which he was found.

Mrs. Dansey, who suffered a nervous breakdown when the boy first disappeared, was said to be in a serious condition tonight.

Are Guarding Evidence.

Mrs. Dansey tonight told of the occasion when she last saw her child. "He came to the door of the sitting room and said: 'Mummy, give me my sweater. I'm cold,'" said Mrs. Dansey. "I gave it to him and he went away. I never saw him again. Oh, if I hadn't given him that sweater he might not have gone away."

Armed guards patrolled the Folsom swamp where the boy's skeleton was found to prevent destruction of evidence which might give a clue to the murder.

RAH-RAH RIOTERS BRING OUT ARMED 'COP' SQUAD

Georgetown's Exuberant Youth Celebrates Football Victory With Impromptu Dance In Front of Keith's; Police Called.

Mad with joy over the results of the Georgetown-Washington and Lee football game yesterday, more than 50 students of Georgetown University took occasion to hold an impromptu yellfest in front of Keith's theater last night.

Blocking traffic and impeding the march of pedestrians, the joyous throng overran the sidewalk and street, ending their festivities by joining hands and rendering an interpretative dance, entitled "Gladness."

A nervous policeman on the corner fearing that the rah-rah riot might result in injuries, called up police headquarters.

"What's the matter?" inquired Detective Lieut. Burlingame. "You can search me," was the stammered response. "But you'll have coroner's work on your hands if you don't send the riot squad up to Keith's."

A moment later a headquarters automobile, containing Burlingame and a light-thirty crew, clipped a couple

New Evidence Found Here. Several Under Surveillance of Police.

$880,000 IS RECOVERED

Total Found by New York Police Reached $500,000 Yesterday.

Simultaneously with the discovery of a wealth of incriminating evidence in Washington yesterday, which is expected to result in several new arrests in connection with the great systematic stock theft uncovered by Washington police, news from New York last night stated that more than $880,000 in stolen securities had been located there.

Assistant District Attorney Deoling of New York, yesterday gave out a statement describing in detail the manner in which the New York stock thieves operated.

To date the police in Washington, New York and Philadelphia have recovered more than $880,000 worth of stolen securities.

A number of persons here are under surveillance of the police, although no further arrests have been made.

Information received at Washington police headquarters reveals the fact that Washington has been the dumping ground for the greater amount of purloined stocks.

It was learned last night that Philadelphia police have located securities valued at $140,000. New York authorities have recovered $242,500 worth of stocks, while Washington investigators have unearthed approximately $500,000 in stolen securities from institutions here.

The latter, through a subcommittee yesterday, attempted to learn from Dr. Harry A. Wilson Proposal. Under the Wilson proposal there would be a flat increase in mining rates of 27.12 per cent, a flat increase in day wages of $1.50 and an increase of 31.61 per cent for yardage and dead work.

Wilson explained: "As I view the attitude of the public toward the present dispute between the miners and the operators they will not willingly submit to pay 1 cent more for coal than is necessary to give a just wage to the miners and a fair profit to the operators but they are willing to pay any rate that is fair to all three."

HE DEMANDS THE SAME AS PRINCE. Man Buying Christmas Seals Learns Royalty Is Not Always Privileged.

"I want the same as the Prince bought," demanded an old soldier, wearing a G. A. R. button, of a clerk in the Christmas Seal Headquarters of the National Tuberculosis Association yesterday.

Tendering a dollar he was handed 20 seals from the same package which supplied his royal highness.

"You know you are not supposed to use these until December 1," he was told.

"Are those the same orders as were given to the Prince?" he queried.

"Yes."

"All right—if it's good enough for him it's good enough for me," he stood out, refusing to leave his name to be placed alongside the signature of Britain's heir.

Conferees Unable To Compromise; Government Busy

Palmer, Garfield, Hines and Ames Will Meet Tomorrow to Decide Policy to Be Pursued in Case Conference Is Failure—May Force a Decision.

The only relief in the coal situation lies in the hope that something may be done tomorrow as a result of a conference of Attorney General Palmer, Dr. Harry A. Garfield, United States Fuel Administrator; Walker D. Hines, Director General of Railroads, and Assistant Attorney General C. B. Ames.

Meantime there were many calls for assistance from various parts of the country which are now really in the grip of a coal famine.

Met Tomorrow.

The next meeting between the two factions has been set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. At that time some action, as yet unknown, is expected from the government to force a compromise. It is hinted that the action may be most drastic in its nature.

At the meeting which was to have been held yesterday, the miners would have signified their acceptance of the offer of Secretary of Labor Wilson of a 31 per cent increase in wages and a seven-hour work day. But this proposal found no favor with the operators.

The latter, through a subcommittee yesterday, attempted to learn from Dr. Harry A. Garfield, United States Fuel Administrator, the attitude of the government in the present state of affairs, but their visit was said to have been unsuccessful. EXPECT MEXICAN REPLY TUESDAY

State Department Believes Carranza Will Investigate Jenkins Case Promptly.

The State Department expects to hear from the Mexican government by Tuesday with regard to the release of William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, imprisoned there by Mexicans. The situation will not become more tense if a reply is delayed until that date, it was pointed out at the State Department yesterday.

Because the Mexican foreign office probably will investigate the affair before answering this country's demand for Jenkins' freedom.

Jenkins was still in prison last night, government officials believed, no word to the contrary having been received. Secretary Lansing was not seriously concerned, however, as it was believed the Mexican government would keep Jenkins imprisoned until its investigation was completed.

If his release is refused, a flat ultimatum may be sent to Mexico, demanding that he be set free by a specified hour, it was reported last night.

MOTHER WOULD JOIN DAUGHTER IN CELL

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—The gray-haired old mother of Sarah Buxton, a prisoner in the Norristown jail, is pleading today that she may be permitted to share her daughter's cell.

Miss Buxton was arrested in Lower Merion on the charge of stealing a diamond pin valued at $400 from Joseph H. Plumb, of Ardmore.

Mother and daughter have worked as servants, always insisting upon employment in the same house.

The police think the daughter is a victim of kleptomania and the mother has watched over her, guarding her against weakness.

YEAR IN JAIL, $500 FINE, CARRIED GUN

In carrying out his policy to make "pistol toting" and razor carrying expensive to offenders, Judge John P. McMahon in police court yesterday gave Raymond Cosmo the limit of the law—360 days in jail, and in addition to pay a fine of $500. Cosmo was convicted of carrying concealed about his person a revolver of large caliber.

Edridge Jackson, similarly charged, after hearing the sentence pronounced upon Cosmo demanded a jury trial, which was set for next Monday.
